Learning Gaps & Corrections

You said	Tati recommends
hi	Hello A greeting should be more formal in a Business English context. heelo	hello The correct spelling of the greeting is 'hello'.
for me it's	for me it is The subject-verb agreement is incorrect. 'It's' is a contraction of 'it is', but in this context, the correct verb form is 'is'.

what the people are saying	what the people say The verb tense is incorrect. The sentence is in the present simple tense, so the correct verb form is the base form 'say'.
And I need to think in English.	I need to think in English. Verb conjugation can sometimes change sentence order.
And	and In English, 'and' is a conjunction that is usually written in lowercase. inscreva-se	inscreva-se (correct) or subscribe (more natural in English) In English, the phrase 'subscribe' is more commonly used than 'inscreva-se'.
ativo o sininho	activate the notification bell In English, the phrase 'activate the notification bell' is more commonly used than 'ativo o sininho'.
Dicas	tips The correct word to use in this context is 'tips' instead of 'Dicas'. Dicas is Portuguese for 'tips'.
I need to... Dicas	I need to get some tips The student is asking for tips, but the sentence is incomplete. A more natural way to phrase it would be 'I need to get some tips'.
I'm the programmer, but I am in my second account because I am a student, officer, and I'm studying English, but I need to study everything.	I'm a programmer, but I'm using a second account because I'm a student, officer, and I'm studying English, but I need to study everything. The student used the wrong verb tense in the sentence. 'I'm the programmer' is correct, but 'I am in my second account' should be 'I'm using a second account' to maintain the same verb tense.
I'm a student, officer, and I'm studying English, but I need to study everything.	I'm a student, officer, and I'm studying English, but I also need to study other things. The student used 'everything' which is too general. A more suitable word would be 'other things' to convey the idea of studying multiple subjects.
I'm testing you because I'm the programmer	I'm testing you because I'm a programmer The student used the wrong verb tense in the sentence. 'I'm testing you because I'm the programmer' is incorrect, 'I'm testing you because I'm a programmer' is correct. neste mês	next month The student used the Portuguese phrase 'neste mês' instead of the English phrase 'next month'.

nós vamos entregar, nós vamos

We are going to deliver and finalize

The student used the verb 'vamos' (we are going to) incorrectly in a list of actions. It should be 'We are going to deliver and finalize'.

Keep practicing! Consistency is the key to fluency.
